Penn told me last week that this and other beatings of the XX stepfather have been by Tippit's son, the inference being that he resents the man because he has married into a fortune made by the father's murder or he suspects something is wrong with the official adcount of it.